Explanation: Expedites the low-rate production, and technical and operational assessment of a prototype network with 500 tactical command and control radios with "push-to-talk" feature that adapts commercially-based, satellite telephone capability. This capability will reduce combat casualties and enhance mission effectiveness for small, dispersed teams operating in remote mountainous regions of Afghanistan, and isolated areas of Iraq. Rapid acquisition of this capability responds directly to CENTCOM JUONs which have been determined to be an Immediate Warfighter Need by the Joint Rapid Acquisition Cell.
